Curriculum focus:
PSHE - What can
harm local and
global environments
and how they can
care for it.

We began by sharing The Bear's Winter House by John Yeoman. The children worked together in teams, having a chance to share their ideas and lead or to follow instructions to create the house that bear makes in the spring away from the other animals. The children thought carefully about what bear needed in his shelter and recalled the description in the book.
