

THIS WEEK IN FOREST SCHOOL...

Year 3

Stone Age to
Bronze Age

We began our session by reading Cave Baby by Julia Donaldson as it linked with the children's history topic. The children worked collaboratively to create shelters and experimented with stone age tools (sticks and logs) in their creative play. Other children explored and experimented with creating coloured mud paints and using natural paint brushes to create their own colourful cave paintings. They carefully considered what the subject of their paintings would be as if they were actually there in the stone age.
